Dear Harold,

Enclosed are some of the Times' Cuban stories which you asked for. I hope to get to the library again tomorrow & will look up the rest of them then. As you can see, some of them aren't too clear. The micro-film copy machines we have aren't the greatest, in fact, I was lucky they were even working. The photo turned out particularly bad. I'm going to check some magazines for that week to see if there are any other pictures that I could copy more clearly on a Xerox.

I finished Post Mortem last week. I just about went into seclusion for a week & did nothing but read. I really can't tell you how fantastic I thought it was. My only regret is that it's not available everywhere.

You were certainly right when you said not to expect too much from the CBS Reports shows. I can't believe how much they passed over or just totally ignored. I just got done reading an article in which Wecht was complaining about how all of his important statements ended up on the editing room floor. I noticed in the segment on Ray that the prosecution investigator was interviewed. What happened to the defense investigator?!

Take it easy. I'll send the rest of the articles as soon as I can.

Best,
Karen
